FALL 2011

THE NAKED VINE wants to remind you to get your holiday wine on now! There is a wine to suit every taste and menu, so drop in and get your wine started. Ask our wine experts for a recommendation and try something new. Candice is pushing the Italian Brunello, and Vera endorses the Super Tuscan Style, Multiple Medal Winner, Rosso Fortissimo.

We are most excited about the NEW VINTURI TRAVEL! Measuring a mere 5 1/2 inches tall and weighing just 4 ounces (including case), the Vinturi Travel easily fits into any pocket or bag. Vinturi Travel incorporates the same aeration as the original Vinturi so you enjoy a better bouquet, enhanced flavors, and smoother finish wherever you drink wine.

Our new Whiskey Stones are simply fantastic. Milled in Vermont by the oldest soapstone workshops in the US. The stones are non-porous, and will impart neither flavour nor odour. More gentle than ice, Whiskey Stones can be used to cool down your favourite spirits just enough to take the edge off without "closing down" the flavours.

We have had such positive feedback from our Shoe Collection that we have expanded it to include Jewelry Cases, Wine Trays, Ice Buckets, and Wine Holders! Come add to your collection - as we say - one can never have too many shoes!

New jewelry arriving weekly, and at a price point that allows you to buy several pieces.

CORPORATE GIFT GIVING

Finding the right tool or avenue to promote your business today can be a challenge. There are countless methods for attracting customers via the Internet and through the increasingly popular social networking venues.

Few promotional methods have a similar impact as hard goods – physical items that not only scream out your corporate identity, but serve as a lasting reminder of your company, its milestones, achievements, community service or level of customer service.

To that end, The Naked Vine, an award-winning and community minded brew-on-premise wine outlet has a creative and lasting suggestion to bolster your company's image; promote your company's event or community commitment.

Sharing, tasting and becoming educated about wine have never been more popular than they are today. It has become much more than a social pastime or subject of conversation around the water cooler. It has evolved into an art form and has become part of many corporate events, social and community fundraisers.

That being said, how do you take that and turn it into a successful corporate marketing tool?

Very simply: by providing high-quality wine to your customers or clients in a bottle that bears your company's logo or brand message. The beautifully etched bottles offered by The Naked Vine literally speak for themselves. You will be impressed at the quality as soon as you see them up close. Whether for holiday gifts of appreciation, thank-you gifts to staff, prizes at fundraisers or golf tournaments, these bottles are ideal.

Why give away wine to staff or customers that advertise a certain producer, type of grape or foreign land? That does nothing to help you. Use it to advertise yourself! For roughly the same cost as a premium store-bought variety of wine, you can have your own etched bottles. Your bottle will definitely never end up in the recycling bin! They are unique personal promotional items, and expressions of your company's thoughtfulness.

Choose from award-winning Amarone Style, Merlot, Cabernet Sauvignon and more from CellarCraft and KenRidge.

You don't have to take our word for it. In order to show you the exceptional quality of these unique promotional items, we are willing to provide 1 free sample, complete with your company logo or message. We can meet with you personally to explain the details.
